

OPAT/Antimicrobial Stewardship Pharmacy Specialist –

The Department of Pharmaceutical Services at WVU Medicine- J.W. Ruby Memorial Hospital is recruiting for 2 full-time clinical pharmacy specialists to enhance the Antimicrobial Stewardship and Outpatient Parenteral Antimicrobial Therapy (OPAT) Programs. The pharmacists will rotate through 3 positions during the year: OPAT, antimicrobial stewardship, and assisting with IV drug use-related infection patients. Other responsibilities include precepting pharmacy students and residents.

WVU Medicine unites the clinical and research faculty of the West Virginia University Health Sciences Center with the hospitals, clinics, and health professionals of the West Virginia University Health System. Together, they are a national leader in patient safety and quality, and are unified and driven by a passion to provide the most advanced healthcare possible to the people of West Virginia and beyond.

J.W. Ruby Memorial Hospital, the flagship hospital of WVU Medicine, is a 710-bed academic medical center located in Morgantown, WV. The site is The Joint Commission-accredited and Magnet-certified. It contains a level I Trauma Center and a Children's Hospital with a Level III Neonatal Care.