Society of Infectious Diseases Pharmacists

Outstanding Clinician Award 2023

The Society of Infectious Diseases Pharmacists (SIDP) is pleased to solicit nominations for the Outstanding Clinician Award. The purpose of this award is to recognize an SIDP member who has developed an innovative and/or excellent clinical practice site. Areas of contribution to infectious diseases pharmacotherapy may include, but are not limited to, development of innovative services, documentation of benefits, and methods of promoting the safe, effective, and rational use of anti-infective agents. Clinicians that practice in underserved or racially minoritized communities are encouraged to apply.

The “Outstanding Clinician Award” is awarded to a pharmacist with exemplary skills as a practitioner and educator and a demonstrated expertise in infectious diseases pharmacy practice, as required by:

- (a) a minimum of 5 years of clinical practice experience in infectious diseases pharmacy practice
- (b) maintenance of an active patient-care service responsibility including but not limited to inpatient rounding, clinic (HIV), stewardship (inpatient, outpatient, system wide) and telemedicine
- (c) outstanding capabilities as a practitioner and teacher AND
- (d) significant contributor to the development or improvement of infectious diseases pharmacotherapy

The awardee serves as a role model in Infectious Diseases Pharmacotherapy and maintains ongoing responsibility and accountability for the provision of pharmaceutical care in infectious diseases pharmacotherapy. This person should also be an active participant in professional infectious diseases and pharmacy associations appropriate to his or her area of practice.

This award provides a plaque to the recipient, who may be asked to give a brief presentation at the opening plenary session at IDWeek™ 2023.

You may nominate any current full or associate SIDP member, including yourself (which is encouraged). With your nomination, include a written description of what the candidate has done and why he or she is being nominated.

Nominations and supporting materials should consist of:

- a) Letter of nomination by an SIDP member or colleague, which includes a brief description of the nominee’s clinical practice.
- b) Two solicited letters of recommendation from co-workers: 1) one letter from a non-pharmacist, and 2) a second letter from a person (excluding the nominator) who can comment on the qualifications of the nominee.
- c) The nominee’s curriculum vitae
- d) An outline of the nominee’s function and accomplishments as a clinical pharmacy specialist in infectious diseases pharmacotherapy. Key elements to include in the description of clinical activities include: an outline of the clinical services provided; the impact of the clinician on anti-infective usage; and the educational role of the practitioner in the institution.
- e) A letter from the nominee stating his/her willingness to 1) accept the nomination (if nominated by a colleague), and 2) be present to accept the award at the opening plenary session at IDWeek™ 2023.
